Exploring the boundaries of color and form

Gallery

Painting	Brief Description
	"Boundaries", Acrylic Ultra Textured This dynamic mixed-media abstract piece balances bold geometric blocks in bright cyan, white, and rust orange against a heavily textured, collage-like background of cool greys and deep indigo. The composition features a row of seven small, embedded circular elements set into the dominant blue rectangle, adding a rhythmic focal point. 120x80cm, Acrylic on canvas

"Time-Worn",
Acrylic Ultra
Textured

This abstract work features a deeply textured, earthy palette of ochre and brown, reminiscent of aged material. Heavy impasto dominates the surface, contrasted by subtle flecks of pale blue. The piece is framed by distinct, deeply carved horizontal lines at the top and bottom edges, emphasizing its tactile quality.

"Rebellion 01",
Acrylic Textured
This series of abstract collages deconstructs the theme of boundaries
through chaotic
layering and mixed media. Defined shapes (patterns,
text) and fluid
paint (blues, ochres) clash and
overlap,
illustrating the collapse of rigid borders between structure and freedom.

"Les Galets" series is composed of Acrylic Textured This abstract pieces. This central painting features a dark, textured background punctuated by an arrangement of irregular, cell-like ovals and circles. These pebbles (galets) reveal fractured interiors of light blue and oxidized earth tones.

"Blurred", Acrylic
Textured

This painting uses textured layers of teal and turquoise to question definition. The dark horizontal bands act as visually porous boundaries, showing how distinctions between water, air, and the underlying surface are continually blurred and broken by shifting light and texture.

"Silver age",
Acrylic Textured

This abstract composition is structured horizontally, contrasting a textured, cool grey upper field with a vibrant lower section dominated by ochre and luminous turquoise. A central horizontal band, featuring broad strokes of umber and white, acts as a boundary line, separating the atmospheric texture above from the dynamic, fluid application of color below.

"Sandy blue",
Acrylic Textured

This abstract piece uses an extremely heavy impasto technique to create a rough tactile surface across the entire canvas. The composition is divided vertically by a dramatic color gradient, moving from a cool, mottled turquoise in the upper section to a rich, warm sienna and ochre below.
